At JCS Pet Travel we understand that moving abroad can be a stressful business and your pet is part of your family. Pets travelling to New Zealand from the UK do not need to undergo quarantine on arrival, but do need to pass a number of tests within the last 30 days of export, prior to the completion of the necessary export health certificate.

Our pet travel consultants aim to work to your logistics and budget in order to make your furry friends' trip less daunting than it may seem at first. We can come up with the plan for when to visit the vet in relation to your export date.

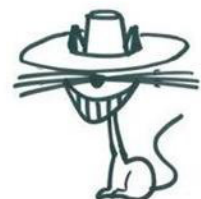

We can help with:

-  Vet trips
-  Boarding
-  Application for export health certificates
-  Collection
-  Final vet trip
-  Flight crate made to IATA specifications
-  Pet flights
-  Customs clearance and delivery through our fellow IPATA members (where possible)

Poor planning could lead to a delay in your pet's trip and further costs, so it is important to plan as far ahead as possible to avoid any problems. Our consultants are available at all stages of your emigration, no matter how trivial your question might seem.

Feel free to visit our website and contact us via email on the Global Footprints website or call us on +44 1753 682244 to discuss your pet's trip.
